

CUCKOO'S nest

Food, drinks and beautiful minds

"THERE WAS NEVER A GENIUS
WITHOUT A TINCTURE OF MADNESS"

WELCOME TO CUCKOO'S NEST.

You have just entered a very special lounge. Before you - The House of Gin, a great gin Revival circus, has set up shop. Meet the tenders of the cuckoo's nest bar, devilishly handsome, gin crazy, life loving son-of-a-guns. They will lead you to that great juniper gate, but make no mistake my friend, you hold the key. We know you are ready to embark on this wet journey. A pilgrimage to the soul of what is old and new, good luck and godspeed!

You are in the business of going places and meeting people, and telling people about the places you went and the people you met.

A GIN SOAKED BOY

BLUEBERRIES AND STUFF 136:-

Limoncello, Umeshu, Blueberries, Lemon, Sugar, Peychards Bitter

Changing with seasons. Progressing is the true human form, shape is irrelevant hence ideal is absolute. Blueberries are good for you.
- This cocktail is sour and complex, it speaks to the senses.

LIVINGROOM 122:-

Royal Gala Apple, Thyme, Gin, Lemon and Sugar, Bitter

A cocktail that echos childhood. Remember how we used to run around in the neighbor's yard, nicking apples yet our own yard had plenty... It was never about the apple, It was about the heist.
- This cocktail is savoury with a beautiful taint apple aroma that swells in you mouth.

BRAMBLE/BJÖRNBÄRS BUSKE 136:-

Gin, Crémé de mûre, Lemon and Sugar

The bramble is a curious little thing. It is born from a flower that grows on a thorny bush, the bush is chaotic in its core, yet it produces these berries, the height of excellence. They live a short lifespan but when they are alive they almost take the form of a solidified black hole and you get lost staring into the abyss.
- This cocktail is sweet, very berry and savoury.

A SWEDISH FOREST 145:-

Aquavite, Chantarelle foam, Lemon and Chantarelle sugar

Throughout the years we have tried to emulate the essence of the Swedish melancholic landscape with different style cocktails, of course we have not succeeded, one drink will never represent the complexity of it all. But maybe a body of work will. So we keep at it. this time around we investigate the beautiful chanterelle. Bright yellow. When walking in the forest the mushrooms almost becomes a mirage among the yellow and red autumn leaves on the ground in the distance.
- This cocktail is a classic sour, with a lot of earthy tones.

NEGRONI VS. APEROL SPRITZ 145:-

Gin, Aperol, China&China, Cava, Dried Orange

Some people like Negroni others like Aperol Spritz. But really it is two different schools on the same subject. Sort of like catholicism and protestantism, they both believe in the same idea but have different mean of achieving it. This is exactly the same but we subscribe to bitterness and we subscribe to unity. So we combined a Negroni with an Aperol Spritz and bow in holy belief to the true heaven on earth. bitterness.
- This cocktail is bitter, it has a lot of subtil orange flavours.

BEE KEEPER 140:-

Lemon Curd, Honey, Gin, Lemon, Nutmeg

Save the bee! It is called Colony Collapse Disorder and it is not good. The bees are dying and we don't know why. Bees are important for pollinating our crops. Without them agriculture would not work. That's why we will donate 20kr for every cocktail sold towards understanding and preventing this from happening.
- This cocktail is rich, savoury and nutty

ROWAN ATKINSON

136:-

Smokey Whiskey, Rowen Berries, Grape Bitter

I used to live in Athens, it is an extraordinary city. the people and the culture is wild and wonderful. I just loved walking around the city. On all the side streets they grow orange trees. The whole city is almost like an groove and it made me sad to think we could never have this in Sweden. I keep thinking about it as I walked the cold streets of Gothenburg until one day I walked past a rowen berry tree and it wasn't until I saw that tree that I realised they are absolutely everywhere. Hence rowan berries are the oranges of the north.

- This cocktail is stiff, bitter sweet and round.

WATERGATE: NIXON RESIGNS!! FORD PRESIDENT AT NOON.

720:-

Gordens Vintage Ca, 1970, Martini Extra Dry Ca 1970

It sometimes feels as though history is repeating itself, so we figured we would take a step back and examine what once was to be more capable of understanding our present time. This classic dry martini is made with authentic gin and vermouth from when Richard Millhouse Nixon was in office. It is what he would have been drinking. Come back here in 50 years and maybe we will treat you to a Trump dry martini as well. - This cocktail is one of a kind, They don't make them like this anymore. Earthy, dry and stiff.

INTO THE WILD, 2/4 PEOPLE

390:-

Japanese Gin, Sake, Green Tea, Lemon Gras, Lemon, Sugar, Matcha Tea Icecubes.

For 2 to 4 people. A punch bowl inspired by Japan and its unique landscapes caused by the wrath of nature. Vulcaons! Typhoons! Earthquakes and tsunamis! that is why tea is needed, a calm that enriches the soul together with friends. -This Bowl is savoury and has a distinct dryness to it.

GIN & TONICS

OLD ENGLISH (DISTILLED) 148:-

Old english is a gin which aims to mimic what gin tasted like in its hayday, during the gin craze of 1750 London. the recipe dates from 1783 and is bottle in a recycled champagne bottle, just like the old days. We serve it with Fentimans tonic

JINZU (LONDON DRY) 172:-

A gin put forth by an english bartender wanting to create a bridge between the Aisan, Japanese palet and the classic gin of Europe. Distilled with yuzo lime and sake this gin is an absolute must for a gin loving son of a gun.

TANQUERAY RANGPUR (DISTILLED) 172:-

Rangpur is a lime from Aisa, mostly grown in india. it is an amazing little citrusfruit. packed with flavour and lots of zing! check it out. we used Fevertree elderflower.

BROOKLYN GIN (DISTILLED) 148:-

A citrus fresh gin from, you guessed it, Brooklyn New York City, The base spirit in no other than corn, just as in a bourbon. Why? Well, why not? In the states there is plenty of it and you can only have so many corn on the cob before you just want to get wasted instead. Served with Nordic tonic

GUN ROOM (DISTILLED) 132:-

A gin made by friends. Its easy on the palett, summer fresh in a summers breeze. lots of citrus. goes well with fentimans tonic.

BUTCHER'S GIN (DISTILLED) 180:-

Distilled with bone marrow it has this sweet pug-nent nose. You wil either hate it or love it. We love it! It is like nothing you have ever taisted before.

GIN & TONICS

HAYMANS (OLD TOMS)

132:-

English gin in a sweeter style than London Dry. Most Old tom gins add sugar to enrich them but Haymans uses botanicals such as liquorice and cinnamon and tropical fruits. With this gin we recommend Fentimans.

HERNÖ (LONDON DRY)

148:-

Swedish small batch gin, classic in some ways but it will not allow you to label it as such. Hernö is well balanced and rich on soft notes such as vanilla and coriander, and it brings something uniquely Swedish to the table. The traditional lingon berry. We pair it with Fever Tree Mediterranean tonic.

X-GIN (DISTILLED)

180:-

A Belgian gin distilled with chocolate, can you imagine? Is there anything they won't put chocolate in? Well, I should not argue. It works! And it's absolutely delicious.

HENDRICKS (DISTILLED)

180:-

One of the gins that started the gin revolution. You know it, you love it! Hendricks Gin! Famous for its notes of rose petals, black pepper and cucumber. We have gotten our hands on an amazing tonic from Athens that is tied with this gin on a higher level of consciousness. Aegan Tonic from 3 Cents

HERNÖ (NAVY STRENGTH)

172:-

Much like the Hernö London Dry, this Swedish gin is well balanced and complex with soft notes of vanilla, pine and lingon berries, but were as the London Dry is bottled at 40.5% ABV. The Navy Strength is bottled at 57% ABV. This adds intensity and perfume harder to spot in the classic London Dry. Same tonic though. Fever Tree Mediterranean.

BOOTH'S GIN (VINTAGE -64)

620:-

We got a hold of a gin from 1964, The seal has already been broken. It is something else alright. Do you want to taste a little dribble of history? Have a Booth's Gin and tonic.
